

Jane Erickson

Whether she's working with adults, high school or elementary students, Jane Erickson is known for her wit, warmth, and humor. She leaves her participants enthused and inspired, giving them practical ways to have fun in life while achieving personal and professional EXCELLENCE. She holds a Bachelor's Degree in Wellness Management and Physical Education and a Master's Degree in Leadership. Jane is a professional speaker and trainer and owns The Wellness and Training Works, where she works in the areas of leadership, communication, teamwork and strategic planning. She has worked with organizations all over the world and specializes in experiential education.

Combining her business experiences with 24 years as a Kiwanian, 17 years as an advisor for Kiwanis K-Kids, as 2007-08 President of the Kiwanis International Foundation, the incoming 2016-17 Kiwanis International President and as grandmother to seven incredible grandchildren has given Jane a multitude of experiences and stories. Jane loves to help others grow and leave their own positive handprints on the world..